

Manufacturing industry

Sycor: Our expertise in the manufacturing industry.

We provide cost-effective, future-proof ICT solutions ranging from industry-specific business software to complete infrastructure solutions. Understanding you and your needs has the highest priority for us. We function as your business partner and consultant. Whether designing solutions, implementing or operating your systems and applications, we are always at your side with our expertise.

Management consulting

As a modern business, you face global competition. Your customers are growing and demand that you reinvent your company on a daily basis. Without long-term strategic planning, you cannot stand up to this growing drive for innovation and will be at the mercy of ever-changing market structures.

We give you expert, goal-oriented advice on how to best position your business. We help you strategically align your company and show you how and where you can use ICT to achieve, expand or secure competitive advantages.

Business software

To meet your customers' needs in the best way possible, all departments in your company must work together. Media interfaces between areas such as financial accounting and sales or production and materials management must be seamlessly integrated. Sophisticated business software solutions help you reach this goal through integrated components that can be employed as a complete package or used modularly. As a result, the flow of information in your business will be fast and barrier-free.

Our SAP solutions – Sycor.Plastics, Sycor.Automotive, Sycor.Metal, Sycor.Medical and Sycor.Surface - based on SAP All-in-One provide you with a business software solution in which typical business processes for each industry have already been preconfigured. In addition, we can integrate your specific requirements and interfaces into the system in order to support your company's processes.

Our solutions give you a range of advantages: You profit from extremely secure IT investments, fast project implementation and transparent data at the press of a button.

Archiving and document management

Today, many companies are faced with the challenge of securely managing all their documents – often as hard copies. Larger companies that have numerous locations but are managed centrally have identical problems. Providing up-to-date, high-quality information at the right time consumes time, energy and resources.

We offer an audit-compliant archiving solution that meets legal requirements. With our document management solution, you can access your current documents at all times from any location. As a result, we increase your access to information and reduce your response times.

Management of international networks

Your company is spread out over different locations. Your business processes and organization must function across all locations and easily adapt to market requirements. Optimal voice and data communication is a fundamental component of your IT infrastructure. Together with you, we evaluate possible applications for state-of-the-art technologies and demonstrate additional potential for improvement and cost savings in your network structure.

Outsourcing of application systems

Managing systems with many subcomponents is becoming increasingly complex. As a result, there has been a disproportionate increase in the amount of time needed just for defending against threats such as viruses or Trojans or for managing databases. By outsourcing your business software systems, we free you from the additional administrative and technical tasks of operating your system.

We have many years of project experience operating extensive business software systems as well as other IT infrastructures. We will demonstrate potential savings and show you how you can optimize your IT landscape so that you can focus on your core business.
